

REAL ESTATE STILL RULES AS BEST INVESTMENT

Stocks have had a strong 2019, with the major U.S. stock indices establishing or nearing record highs in April and early May. Still, more Americans continue to believe real estate is a superior long-term investment to stocks or other investment options. A Gallup poll in early April asked the following question: Which do you think is the best long-term investment?

Note: Data not shown for bonds. Bonds have been chosen by 5% to 7% of respondents since 2014.
